JU Making Summer Renovations to Campus

While students are away for the summer, Jacksonville University is taking the time to make improvements across campus, prioritizing those most requested by students.

Last fall, nearly 600 students shared their input about what they wanted to see changed on campus. Whether it was more places to relax between classes or improvements made in residence halls, those ideas were heard and changes are being implemented in response.

These improvements will be completed in phases throughout the summer.
